

FEMINISM + POLITICS IN 1980s BRITAIN

14 MARCH 2018
2 - 5:30 PM
201 MOSES HALL
UC BERKELEY

This afternoon workshop will be structured around discussions of works-in-progress that are helping to rethink the nature of feminism and the political culture of 1980s Britain. We are fortunate to be able to welcome two leading scholars in the field of British history, Stephen Brooke and Judith Walkowitz, as well as to have two of our own PhD candidates presenting shorter pieces.

Papers will be pre-circulated. To RSVP, contact ctrbs@berkeley.edu.

2-3:30 pm

FEMINISM AND THE SPACES OF POLITICS

Stephen Brooke | "The Dalston Children's Centre and the politics of 1980s London."

Judith Walkowitz | "Feminism and the politics of prostitution in King's Cross, London, in the 1980s."

Chaired by James Vernon (History | UC Berkeley)

4-5:30 pm

FEMINISM AND THE POLITICS OF WORK

Sarah Stoller | "From women's liberation to New Ways to Work: feminist labor activism and the making of working parenthood."

Christopher Lawson | "Troubled Times: Coping with deindustrialization and unemployment in a divided Belfast, 1960s-80s."

Chaired by Tehila Sasson (History | Emory University)
