What: Help us commemorate the 100 Year Anniversary of Army Reserve Officers’ Training Corps (ROTC) by participating in a 5K fun run around UC Berkeley’s campus, which has a chance to make it into the Guinness Book of World Records. There will also be a fun cake cutting celebration at the end of the event!

Why: ROTC, as it exists today, began in 1916, and it’s the military’s largest officer-producing organization with more than 500,000 second lieutenants commissioned since its inception.

Who: Everyone is invited and highly encouraged to participate.

When: Saturday, April 23, 2016 @ 7:45 a.m.

Where: UC Berkeley—Run begins at Sather Gate next to Sproul Plaza (Sather Rd. Berkeley, CA 94720) and ends at Hearst North Field.
